TO USE SCHOOL AS SERVICE HOSPITAL

Arrangements have been made by the Treasury Department to rent the buildings formerly occupied by the National School of Domestic Art and Science for the "emergency hospital for soldiers and sailors" authorized by the act of Congress March 3, last, instead of erecting a new building.

Announcement was made today from the office of James T. Moyle, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, that this is part of the $9,000,000 appropriation for this class of hospitals all over the country, and that any or all may be either temporary or permanent in nature. It was desired to give Washington the best hospital that could be procured, the announcement stated, and for this purpose the "Mt. Alto Inn" property was secured.

On June 3, 1919, the Comptroller of the Treasury ruled that the $550,000 appropriation for the hospital in Washington could not be spent to acquire land, but that the hospital must be built on land owned by the Government at any time.

The property consists of eleven and one-half acres, with four fireproof dormitories, a fireproof administration building, a large greenhouse, an outdoor theater with a seating capacity of 1,200, and a thoroughly equipped hospital. With the addition of more beds the plant will be converted into a hospital with 125 beds.
